pnly about $18,000,000 less than would be received ordinarily in a year.

The gold comes chiefly in builion, English sovereigns, French napoleons and Japanese yen. Of the gold received from July 1 to October 8, $17,121,300 was in builion, $11,623,000 in sovereigns, $4,638,800 in yen and $2,189,700 in napoleons. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Guaranty Trust Company have been the two big depositors.

the two big depositors.

The work that is required to turn this into bars for coinage can be judged by the fact that it will take a week to handle the latest Morgan consignment, and in the meantime the other deposits, of which there are from $500,000 to $1,-000,000 a day outside of the big forceton. of which there are from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a day outside of the big foreign shipments, must be taken care of. This is because a depositor gets a check for only 90 per cent, of the indicated weight value of his gold when it is turned over to the Assay Office. He must wait until the gold has been melted, assayed and waited down to the last 10-1000 of a cent before he can get a check for the remainder.

within four days of the receipt of the gold.

To do this the great meiting and testing rooms of the Assay Office are turned into chambers of flame and dirt and whirling clouds of smoke for long hours every day, and often into the night, where men stripped to the waist cease-lessly shovel heaps of shining, lingling coins into the furnaces. They handle quantities of gold that would corrupt the soul of many a man, with as much nonchalance, as workers in a pig iron foundry.

No ancient alchemist's room ever presented a stranger sight than these places far below the busy rush of Wall Street where the molten metal is tested and cast into bars that are forwarded to the mint. The roaring blue gas flames give but a shrivelling heat of 3,800 degrees Fahrenheit. Strange odors arise from the bubbling metal that sicken those not the bubbling metal that sicken those not used to them, and occasionally a shovelful of cleansing charcoal is tossed in, and a puff of curling black smoke shoots up and eddies about the bodies of the workers.

From the middle of the seething pots where the bullion is melted, samples are taken and boiled in nitric acid in odd shaped retorts to separate the silver and alloy, and then the entire mass is refined until it is 999 5-10 pure gold. The coin itself is so near our standard that it is not refined, but after being melted into bars is shipped direct to the mint

WAR STOCK UP ON RUMORS.

Mystery Surrounds American and British Manufacturing Co.

Confirmation could not be obtained in the financial district yesterday of the re-ports that the Bethlehem Steel Corpora-tion was endeavoring to get control of the American and British Manufacturing Company, a Bridgeport concern con-trolled by the International Power Comtrolled by the International Power Company, now in the hands of the receivers.

In spite of the lack of confirmation, however, the common and preferred stock of the American and British Manufacturing Company made notable advances. The common stock sold as high as 52 and closed with that price bid and 54 asked, an advance of 14 points over Wednesday's closing figures. The preferred closed at 90, a loss of 5 points for the day, but the asked price, 110, was 10 points higher than on the day previous. The stock made its appearance on the curb Saturday, October 9, the common selling at 25 and the prethe common selling at 25 and the pre-ferred at 38. Since then its rise has been rapid.

The present status of the company geems to be surrounded with considerable mystery. The property consists of the Corliss Steam Engine Works and the American Ordnance Works. Poor's Man-American Ordnance Works. Poor's Man-ual of Industrials says it is controlled through ownership of a majority of its stock by the International Power Com-pany. Both of these are concerns in which Joseph H. Hoadley has or has had a large interest. Early this year the International Power Company was placed in the hands of receivers in a placed in the hands of receivers in a New Jersey Court of Chancery. Counsel for the stockholders' committee of the International Power Company, said yesterday it would be impossible to release any of the majority stock of the American and British Manufacturing Company held by the International Power Company without obtaining permission of the court.

In 1913, 500 shares of American and British Manufacturing Company sold for $150° the lot and there were reports in $150 the lot and there were reports in the financial district yesterday that con-siderable stock had been disposed of at even lower prices. The company is said to have a working agreement with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation whereby it is under contract to turn out a certain amount of Hotchkiss guns and other war munitions within a limited space of time.

U. S. BUTTER EXPORTS TREBLED All Dairy Products in Demand, Great Britain Leading.

Great Britain Leading.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Dairy products have shared in the growth of export trade due to war conditions. In the fiscal year ended July 1, according to figures made public by the Department of Commerce, exports of dairy products, which had been steadily decreasing for many years, took a sudden leap upward. In the last fiscal year exports of butter rose from 3,500,000 pounds annually, which had been the average, to over 10,000,000 pounds. In the same period imports of butter fell off more than one-half, being reduced from about 8,000,000 to less than 4,000,000 pounds. Exports of American cheese made an even better showing, increasing from an average of 2,500,000 annually to 54,000,000 pounds. There was a two-thirds decrease in importations of cheese. Exports of condensed milk more than doubled, as did the export trade in imitation butter. Great Britain was by far the largest foreign customer for these products.
